

How did you hear about The Catatonia Foundation?

Jonathan Rogers:

I think I heard about The Catatonia Foundation through googling something catatonia-related. I think The Catatonia Foundation is a fantastic organization because it has brought together catatonia specialists from around the world to actually agree on something and to improve the care of patients for catatonia.

One thing that's been really powerful is the way it's been led by patients and their relatives who have a huge amount of skin in the game to actually improve catatonia diagnosis and treatment.
