

What is Catatonia?

Dr. Northoff:

A behavioral and a motor response to certain emotional and cognitive changes — to extreme cognitive motor affective emotional changes. It's the limit of your capacity and you have no chance other than reacting with the motor response and not move at all or completely get out of control. So it's genuinely a psychomotor disorder, not just a motor disorder.