

Dr. Jorge Cuevas introduction

My name is Jorge Cuevas. I was born in Spain. That is the place where I live right now. I graduated in medicine at Zaragoza University. And that's the place where I also did my residency training.

I completed multiple clinical rotations, including the geriatric psychiatry department of Mount Sinai Hospital in New York. And as a psychiatrist, I have been working in acute inpatient units of psychiatry since 15 years ago, more or less. Now I serve as chief of a psychiatry department where I lead a multidisciplinary team and, in addition to my clinical duties, I hold a professor's seat at the University Autònoma of Barcelona.

The hospital where I'm working right now is the Germans Trias i Pujol University Hospital in Barcelona.
