

Dr. Gregory Fricchione introduction

I'm Greg Fricchione, a psychiatrist, a neuropsychiatrist. I went to medical school at New York University, the same place that Max went to. And I had wonderful discussions with Max about being down there on First Avenue and training at Bellevue, where I trained, I trained at NYU Bellevue. Then I came up to Mass General for my fellowship in psychosomatic medicine and consultation psychiatry.

Right now, I'm at Mass General. I used to run the psychiatric consultation service and would see lots of catatonia patients there. I still attend on that service and still see lots of catatonia patients who were sent to me.

I'm working in health promotion illness prevention through the Benson Henry Institute.
